A new team for new challenges

Good bye Yvonne Nasshoven and thank for all the work done during your all these years as executive director at TEPSA. Welcome to Mirte van den Berge, our new executive director. She will be assisted by Laura Ventura. I will also express my gratitude to Jean Victor Louis for its dedication to TEPSA during its time as acting Secretary General.

I hoped to have the same constructive relations with our new team as with the former one. In this difficult time due to the financial crisis for all think thanks, it seems very important that our network can keep its strength and work in an effective manner.

Our next rendez-vous will be the meeting on the Belgian presidency in Brussels and our General Assembly. At this occasion, several working group on different important topics for the European Union after the entry into force of the Lisbon treaty will take place. During this meeting, each working groups will adopt a roadmap and the board hopes that each member of TEPSA will take part to this collective work. Our aim is to share our experience on the most important challenges for the future of EU with a view to future seminars and studies.

It will be a pleasure to see all our members at the Belgian presidency meeting in Brussels and to work with you.

News from the TEPSA Secretariat

Farewell to Yvonne Nasshoven

Yvonne will leave Brussels at the end of March. We knew when TEPSA appointed her to the delicate responsibility of Executive director that she would not be for a long time in the office at the Fondation universitaire and we fully understand that she had to look for another place where she could work with more continuity to her PhD and assure her future, what TEPSA could not do.

Yvonne has showed an astonishing working capacity, an exceptional dynamism and a great capacity for facing obstacles. She was one of the few persons I know who fully understand the budgetary rules of the Commission. She defended

TEPSA's cause with intelligence and determination and she spend a lot of time trying to improve the financial regulation of which she became an expert. She played an important role in the last two years of EU Consent and she was, with Anne Schmidt, the TEPSA pillar of the collaboration with Theseus. The same could be said of the part she took on herself in the collaboration with our Turkish partner, METU.

It was a pleasure for me to work with Yvonne, a very amicable person, and I am sure to express also the views of Wolfgang and Graham in saying that it was also reassuring to know that she was in charge. We warmly congratulate her for having been admitted at the exam giving access to the Auswärtiges Amt and wish her full success in her future diplomatic career.

Jean-Victor Louis

Welcome to Mirte van den Berge

Mirte van den Berge holds a Master's degree in Political Science from Leiden University, where she specialised in International Relations and European Integration. Before joining TEPSA she has worked at the European Studies Programme of the Netherlands Institute of International Relations 'Clingendael'. At Clingendael she has contributed to research and consultancy projects and organised training courses on the EU for civil servants from EU member states and accession countries, as well as international seminars and conferences aimed at policy-makers and academics.

Her areas of interest include EU institution; the national coordination of EU decision-making processes; governance and better regulation; and justice and home affairs policies.

Welcome to Laura Ventura

As TEPSA's new research assistant, Laura Ventura will be participating in the project management of various TEPSA activities (roundtable conferences, guest lectures, pre-presidency conferences etc..). In the framework of the Citizenship Programme, she will be involved in TEPSA research projects and briefings on human rights and democracy while working closely with the members institutes, in order to promote visibility in Brussels and ensure relevant contacts with policy-makers.

Holding a Master's degree in European Studies from the Catholic University of Louvain, Laura has been working in Brussels for 3 years in different public membership organisations such as North East England Office in Brussels, QeC-ERAN and has lately finished an internship at the European Commission, DG EMPL.

GOOD NEWS:
TEPSA listed by the Europe for Citizens Programme 2010

As in the last years the European Commission has awarded TEPSA an operating grant under the "Europe for Citizens Programme". With the signing of the multiannual Framework partnership agreement and the Specific agreement on the operating grant for 2010, TEPSA can start to intensify its work programme for 2010.

Pre-presidency Conference Madrid - "Spanish Presidency 2010: New Rules for a Closer Union in a Multipolar World, a Renewed Impetus for Sustainable Growth in a Globalised Economy"

The beginning of the end of the serious, twin crisis – institutional and economic – that Europe has endured for more than a year, will dominate the 6-month Spanish presidency of the European Union and the term of the new team presidency – comprising the trio of Spain, Belgium and Hungary – starting 1st January, 2010. During this period, the seemingly endless process of ratifying the new Treaty which will govern the future workings of the EU must conclude, and a lasting economic recovery must start. As there is not much room left for special measures, the new productive model for growth and job-creation must be achieved through structural reforms based on the competitiveness of innovation and on sustainability, both social and environmental.

It is against this backdrop that the new post-Lisbon (post-Lisbon Treaty and post-Lisbon Strategy) period begins. With the proper political leadership, it could lead to a European Union that is more efficient and transparent in the political realm and more competitive and solidarity-minded in terms of economics, and therefore more secure and better adapted to the multi-polar, globalized world that is taking shape.

This conference was organised just five weeks before the Spanish presidency begins, and provided an excellent opportunity to debate the key issues and priorities that will make up the presidency's agenda. It was organized with a multidisciplinary, trans-European approach, and featured renowned experts from the academic world, specialized analysts and important policymakers from all over the continent.

The Conference was co-organised by TEPSA and Real Instituto Elcano, with the support of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation, the Office of the European Commission in Spain, and the Senate.

THESEUS Seminar 2009

"EU in crisis – the EU polity in times of external and internal challenges"

From 29.11. to 03.12.2009 the 3rd THESEUS Seminar for Young Leaders „EU in crisis – the EU polity in times of external and internal challenges“ took place in Berlin. The seminar gathers students from universities all over Europe and from the US. Together with high-level experts from international organisations, business, politics, NGOs and research they discussed the definition and types of crisis the EU might be confronted with internally and externally, as well as the instruments it has to tackle them. The students were advised by Geoffrey Edwards from the University of Cambridge, this years resident researcher to the seminar. Together they compiled a paper addressing the newly elected president of the European Council and stating what they thought were “The most pressing crisis facing the EU today” (online: http://theseus.uni-koeln.de/fileadmin/Files/THESEUS_Seminar_2009/Theseus_crisis_paper.pdf)

Theseus Conference “T(w)gether for Europe? The Franco-German couple and EU governance in times of crisis”

On 03. and 04.12.2009 the THESEUS Conference „T(w)gether for Europe? The Franco-German couple and EU governance in times of crisis“ took place in Berlin. On the first day of the conference Alfred Grosser, one of the most critical connoisseurs of France and Germany, Rolf Maffael, responsible for external issues at the German Federal Foreign Ministry, Yvonne Nasshoven (TEPSA), Angelica Schwall-Düren, Member of the German Bundestag, Vice-Chairwoman, Parliamentary Group of the Social Democrats and expert on Franco-German relations, Julie Smith (University of Cambridge) and Prof. Wolfgang Wessels (University of Cologne) provided their evaluation of the most urgent crisis the EU is confronted with, asked if there is still a role of the Franco-German couple and if the special relationship between the two countries continues to be important for the management of major crisis. On the following day researchers and academics tried to take „one Stepp back“ and asked how we should define „crisis“, which role different crisis had for the European Integration Process and discussed with the participants of the THESEUS Seminar their proposal for an EU crisis strategy.

Remittance Ceremony: THESEUS Award for Promising Research in European Integration

Alfred Grosser presented the first THESEUS Award for Promising Research on European Integration. The award went to Dr. Emmanuel Sigalas from the Austrian Academy of Sciences for his Ph.D. thesis on “Cross border People Mobility and EU Legitimacy”. The research piece distinguished itself from other works through its innovative research question and the solid methodological and theoretical approach.

The next THESEUS Seminar will take place in Brussels in the summer of 2010 and will deal with recent developments in the area of EU Justice and Home Affairs.

Lunch with President Herman Van Rompuy

The honorary President of TEPSA Prof. Vandamme and Prof. De Keuleneer, Executive Director of the University Foundation organised a highly informative lunch debate with the President of the European Council Mr. Herman Van Rompuy. Major points of the debate about the role of the presidency according to the Lisbon Treaty were:

- Institutions
- The economic cooperation
- External relations
- Participative democracy

President Van Rompuy made comments to each point. He is for example convinced, that the European community made a qualitative jump forward with the Lisbon Treaty. Although Copenhagen was a huge disappointment he is certain, that with President Obama the end of unilateralism has come.

Britain, Europe and the General Election

Federal Trust for Education and Research has organized a conference on 'Britain, Europe and the General Election' on 14th April in London. The conference was held jointly with TEPSA. At this conference the European policies of the main British parties were considered and the question was raised how far the parties will be in a position to carry these policies out after the next British General Election. Speakers included Professor Stephen Haseler (London Metropolitan University), a founding member of the SDP and Professor Maurice Fraser (London School of Economics), a former special adviser to Douglas Hurd.

The second part of the conference focused British policies in Europe that may change after the General Election, notably External and Defence Policy, the Financial Regulation and Internal Security. Sir Brian Unwin (Federal Trust), former President of the European Investment Bank, commented on the possible effect the elections could have on the British stance on the financial regulation and Hugo Brady (Centre for European Reform) commented on the opt-ins and opt-outs of the United Kingdom in the Justice and Home Affairs policy area and (on Internal Security). Brendan Donnelly (director Federal Trust) commented on the External and Defence Policy, chaired the meeting and summed up its conclusions.

The Federal Trust and TEPSA will organize a second conference on the impact of the British General Election on the British EU policies later this year.

Pre-presidency Conference Brussels - “The Belgian Presidency 2010 – Future prospects for the Belgian Presidency of the EU (2010): Global challenges in a new institutional era”

The Institut d’Etudes Européennes (IEE) at the Université Libre de Bruxelles, the Institute for European Studies (IES) at the Vrije Universiteit Brussel (VUB), Egmont – Royal Institute for International Relations, the Universiteit Gent (U-GENT), the Université de Liège, the Université Catholique de Louvain (UCL), the Facultés Universitaires St Louis, the Universiteit Antwerpen, will organize a conference on “The Belgian Presidency 2010 – Future prospects for the Belgian Presidency of the EU (2010): Global challenges in a new institutional era”, to be held in Brussels on 20-21 May 2010, in order to foster and support an insightful Belgian Presidency that will be launched on 01st July 2010 .

The Conference is organized as a part of the “pre-presidency” series of the TEPSA (Trans European Policy Studies Association) with potentially the official “Belgian Presidency 2010” label and the support of the Belgian Federal Public Service Foreign Affairs, Foreign Trade and Development Cooperation.

This conference will bring together senior scholars and high level practitioners from across Europe to focus on the 2010 Belgian Presidency of the European Union. It will examine the both the Belgian vision, outputs and prospects for improving European efficiency in the following thematic: Security and Defense, Climate Change and Environment, Immigration and Development, Eastern Dimension and Energy Supply, Lisbon Strategy and Economic and Social Cohesion and finally the Role of the Semestrial Presidency under the Lisbon Treaty.

The conference will therefore also attempt to foster exchange between the academic, policy communities and the Belgian Presidency, especially through plenary sessions by senior policymakers such as governmental officials and a number of “policy link” workshops featuring academics. The conference aims as well to have an impact on the Belgian Presidency by offering a fresh view on the mentioned thematic.

The conference will be publicized on the partners websites, research networks websites and on EU affairs specialized websites from March 2010 onwards.

We do expect around 170 conference participants (students, academics, EU and Belgian officials, EU practitioners, journalists,...).

The Swedish Presidency – A Final Assessment Dr. Gunilla Herolf

On 14 December 2009 at the Institute of International relations Prague, Dr. Gunilla Herolf, from the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI), offered her final assessment of Sweden's EU Presidency. Her presentation focused on the six major priorities of the presidency, including: economic and employment initiatives, crafting a new climate programme, defining EU strategy in the Baltic Sea, and facilitating the effective transition of the Lisbon Treaty among others.

Throughout the course of the presentation, Dr. Herolf also highlighted the difficulties that face any incoming president, such as prioritizing the various points on the agenda and managing the "leftovers" from previous presidencies, and how those difficulties were compacted with the effects of the global financial crisis and the uncertain fate of the Lisbon Treaty. However, with regards to the motto of the presidency, "Taking on the Challenge," Dr. Herolf concluded the Swedish Presidency had been a successful one in terms of efficiency, transparency and preparedness.

Berlin, 26 March 2010:

The Institut für Europäische Politik (IEP) is organising an expert workshop on “EU, Russia and the common neighbourhood” in the framework of its “Study Programme on European Security”. Representatives from the academic and policy-making community will discuss the following key questions: What foreign policy approaches the EU and Russia follow towards the common neighbourhood? How does Russia perceive European policy initiatives in its ‘near abroad’ and what do these perceptions mean for the EU? And finally, in how far does Russia intervene with the transformative power of the EU? In other words, does Russia (actively) pursue strategies to limit the diffusion of European ideas?

THESEUS Award for Promising Research on European Integration 2010

Call for applications

The THESEUS Award for Promising Research on European Integration will distinguish an excellent piece of work of a junior researcher in the field of European integration, which analyses an ongoing challenge for the European Union and its member states

- with regard to the institutions, policies or policymaking processes of the European Union or
- from a comparative perspective across the member states of the European Union,

- recommending potential institutional or policy solutions.

The rewarded work will be a Ph.D. thesis or a publication in a major journal (published within the last three years from application deadline). Disciplines covered include especially - but not exclusively – political or social sciences. There is no nationality or geographical criteria for selection. THESEUS accepts both direct applications and nominations through third parties.

The award is endowed with 3000 € and the winner will be involved into the activities of the THESEUS network. The public presentation will take place in December 2010.

THESEUS is a common initiative of the Centre d'études européennes de Sciences Po Paris, the Jean Monnet Chair for Political Science at the University of Cologne, the Trans European Policy Studies Association and the Fritz Thyssen Foundation, Cologne. Its aim is to establish a European network of thinkers, actors and ideas and to foster an open and constructive dialogue between academia and politics about the future challenges of Europe. Emerging from a Franco-German initiative, THESEUS is striving to enhance the mutual understanding of societies in Europe.

Applications: Deadline 31/05/2010

Please send your informal application, consisting of a two-page summary of your work, your academic CV (including publications) and a cover letter situating your work in your ongoing research and academic activities, as well as a copy of your Ph.D. thesis or publication by 31/05/2010 via e-mail to Nicole Ahler, M.A. (ahlern@uni-koeln.de). The language of the application dossier is English; there is no language criterion for publication or Ph.D. thesis.

Institut für Europäische Politik: Integration

The forthcoming issue of “integration” will be published at the end of April. Among other topics, articles will deal with the UN Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen, the European institutions after Lisbon, and the Swedish Council Presidency. “integration” is the quarterly journal of the Institut für Europäische Politik (IEP) in cooperation with the Arbeitskreis für Europäische Integration (AEI). Abstracts in English and information about “integration” are available at: <http://www.zeitschrift-integration.de>.

Institut für Europäische Politik: EU-27 Watch

The Forthcoming issue of EU-27 Watch, edited by the Institut für Europäische Politik (IEP), will provide an analytic overview of debates on the Union from all 27 member states as well as the candidate countries. Its publication is planned for July 2010.

The EU-27 Watch provides a rich and unique set of material, collecting national debates on the Union. It focuses on the deepening and widening of the European Union, as well as policies. The English internet publication is free of charge and available at: <http://www.iep-berlin.de/index.php?id=546>.

After having published eight issues of EU-27 Watch between 2004 and 2009 in the framework of EU-CONSENT, the IEP has decided to continue the project in 2010 with the 9th edition of EU-27 Watch. The IEP is thankful for the support that the Centre international de formation européenne (Cife) is willing to give to the project.
